Problem faced by Air conditioner dealer

- Reliance on spreadsheets delays processing and slows down processing.
- Fragmented systems lead to duplicated data and conflicting information across different excel files.
- Lack of automated reminders leads to forgotten AMC renewals and scheduled maintenance.
- Customer satisfaction drops due to forgotten service commitments.
- Inability to track serial numbers and dates results in dealers paying for parts covered by manufacturers.
- Cash flow gets delayed due to lengthy reconciliations
- A lack of predictive analytics prevents dealers from accurately forecasting seasonal demand.
- Poorly maintained software suffers from frequent downtime and bugs, disrupting daily operations.
- Overly complex software interfaces cause staff resistance and drive-up training costs.
